

We love... Katherine Hooker

BORN into a creative family, Katherine Hooker (below) has always had an interest in design. She made her first coats in 2001, and now has more than 150 different fabrics, including tweeds, silks, linens and cashmeres, as well as an ever-expanding range of buttons. Each of her unique designs is made entirely in England, and can be completely bespoke.

The range now includes belts, mittens and bags, as well as coats, jackets, dresses and skirts, which can all be viewed at www.katherinehooker.com. This summer hacking jacket (right) is ideal for almost any occasion, and can be tailored to suit you perfectly (from £660). Katherine is based in London SW10, just off the King's Road, but can travel to fittings. For more information, telephone 020-7352 5091.

Katherine Hooker's hacking jacket

1. Tchaikovsky, 2. Black, 3. Dublin, 4. Commander, 5. The Falklands War